NEWS FROM SUFFOLK.

Pretty Home Wedding Performed Yesterday Afternoon.

Mr. Harry L. Jacobs and Miss Elizabeth Channell Are Now Man and Wife—Dr. Murray's Remains Laid to Rest—Two Esteemed Ladies Dead.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)

Suffolk, Va., May 21.—Beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and potted plants, and in the presence of an assembly of relatives and close friends of the principals, the parlors of Mrs. John F. Lotz's residence, No. 19 Franklin street, were the place of a pretty but quiet home marriage at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The persons to the contract were Mr. Harry Leo Jacobs and Miss Elizabeth Channell. The ceremony was performed by Dr. W. W. Staley, pastor of the Suffolk Christian Church.

The floral decorations were lovely to see. The bride and groom stood beneath an arch made of palms and ferns. The mantel was banked with evergreens and cut flowers. Among the roses noticed in the decorations were American Beauty, Bride, Marechal Niel and Jacqueminot.

The bride wore a neat looking tailor-made traveling gown. It was of black and gray material. She carried a book containing the marriage service, a gift of the groom. A ring was used. There were no attendants.

THE HONEYMOON.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, amid the congratulations of friends and a shower of rice, left at 3:30 on the Southern railway for Norfolk, where an Old Dominion steamer was taken for New York City. They will go from there to pass most of the honeymoon with the family of Mr. William R. Jacobs, a brother of the groom, at Rye, N. Y., twenty-six miles above the city, and at Rye Beach. A kodak picture of the marriage party was taken on the platform of the Southern depot at Suffolk.

Mr. Jacobs, who has been a resident of Virginia ten years, is general manager of the Suffolk Lumber Company. He was born at McKeesport, Pa., and spent the earlier portion of his life at Braddock and Pittsburgh, Pa. He is an excellent young business man with many friends.

The bride was the oldest daughter of the late Mrs. Alice Jones. She is a graceful blonde and a well-liked young lady. Friends of both extend good wishes.

DR. MURRAY BURIED.

The remains of the late Dr. Robert Wallace Murray arrived here at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon from Greenville, Va., where death resulted from a bullet wound Saturday afternoon. The casket was accompanied by the father of the deceased, Rev. Dr. James Murray, an uncle, Dr. William W. Murray, a bosom friend, Marshall McCluer, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Dunbar Murray, cousins.

The funeral took place at 5 o'clock from the Main Street Methodist Church. The services were conducted by Rev. John Stanley Thomas, Presbyterian, and the pastor, Rev. William T. Green. The interment was in Cedar Hill Cemetery, these being pall-bearers: Dr. H. W. Campbell, Dr. J. P. Whedbee, G. L. Barton, Arthur Woolford, W. B. Lawrence, H. P. Brooks, C. H. Causey, Jr., J. E. Booker, W. W. Eley.

YET A MYSTERY.

It will never be known for sure whether the shooting of Dr. Murray was accidental or premeditated. There are theories on both sides of the question, and there has so far been found absolute proof in sustention of either.

The fatal bullet, of very small calibre, entered on the left side near the stomach. The dying man was found lying on his back on the bed.

A theory which gives color to accidental shooting is that Dr. Murray had come home tired and laid down, and the pistol was discharged while being down from the hip pocket.

Some of the deceased's friends can not reconcile suicide with the man's life. There was no domestic nor financial trouble, nor were there any heart entanglements. A communication from the deceased to his father a day before the end was cheerful in tone, and there were promises of frequent letters during the foreign tour. There was a strong bond of affection between father and son.

DEATH OF MRS. CROSS.

HAMPTON.

Lewelling Bagley Acquitted of the Charge of Arson.

Memorial Day Exercises—Address by Hon. A. J. Montague—Children's Day at the Churches—Hampton Nimrods on a Hunt—Brief Items of Interest.

Hampton, Va., May 21.—Lewelling Bagley, charged with arson, was acquitted Saturday evening.

Bagley is the Newport News negro, who was charged with setting fire to the house of Louise Simms a week ago.

The Commonwealth was represented by the Hon. E. E. Montague, while the defense was conducted by Mr. F. S. Collier, of this city, and Mr. E. W. Robertson, of Newport News.

The main witness in the trial for the prosecution was Louise Simms, a colored man by the name of Mitchell and many other negroes that live adjacent to the fired house.

Louise testified that she saw Bagley at her windows between 2 and 3 o'clock of the morning of the blaze.

Mitchell testified that Bagley had threatened to "burn the whole block for talking against him."

The defense produced a number of reliable witnesses to prove Bagley's good character. The defense pleaded an alibi and produced the old negro woman at whose house Bagley roomed, who swore that she opened the door for Bagley at 1 o'clock, and as a sufferer from asthma she was awake the remainder of the night, and that he did not leave the house.

At 4 o'clock the argument was gone into, and at 5:30 the counsel submitted the case to the jury, who, about 7 o'clock, returned the verdict of "not guilty." Since it could not be termed an attempt at arson, the instructions restricted the jury to one of two verdicts—acquittal or the death penalty.

MEMORIAL DAY.

FRANKLIN.

SOUTHAMPTON COUNTY WILL GIVE A BIG MAJORITY FOR THE CONVENTION.

(Special to The Virginian-Pilot.)

Franklin, Va., May 21.—A large and enthusiastic crowd of Democratic voters was addressed in the court-house at Courtland to-day by State Senator W. P. Barksdale, of Halifax, on the approaching election on the Constitutional Convention question. Owing to the weather conditions, which were specially favorable to farming operations, the crowd at court was comparatively small, but nearly every voter seemed anxious to hear the speaking and the court-house was filled. The enthusiasm at some of the climaxes in Senator Barksdale's speech was almost unbounded. The speech was excellent and has aroused interest here more and more.

The negroes held a meeting on the court-house green and some exceedingly incendiary speeches were made by them, but they served to arouse the white people probably as much or more than they did the negroes. The indications are that a very good vote will be polled in this county and that the county will give at least one thousand majority for the Constitutional Convention.
